QUESTION:
Why does Austin trust Cindy for expert professional service?

ANSWER:
“Cindy’s legal technology expertise is authentic – and always at the service of my firm.”

– Austin Doherty, Chief Knowledge Officer, Hogan & Hartson, LC, Washington, DC and Cindy Carlson, Librarian Relations Manager, West

Professional service and genuine expertise builds trust. Count on your West Librarian Relations Manager as a resource for superior products and legal technology, offering solutions that benefit your library and your firm.

Real people, real partners.
Welcome to Portland, and to the 101st Annual Meeting and Conference of the American Association of Law Libraries! Our theme this year is Energize, Explore, Evolve, because the Annual Meeting will provide us with opportunities to energize ourselves and our careers and to explore new trends in our profession. Our Annual Meeting programs, networking and exhibits will give us the tools we need to cope with the constant changes in the legal information environment and help us evolve to meet them.

Professional education is the key activity at our Annual Meeting. You can choose from 66 programs selected by the Annual Meeting Program Committee, as well as the additional 25 “niche” offerings created by our special interest sections. So whether you are a novice or a veteran, and no matter what your position or work environment, you will find something to spark your imagination and send you home with renewed energy. Also, don’t miss the numerous opportunities to be energized by networking with your colleagues at our many social events.

You can explore a wide array of new products and services in the exhibit hall, learn about opportunities to get involved in the work of special interest sections, chapters, caucuses and committees at the members’ activities area, or get new ideas for promoting your library in the PR showcase. Also, be sure to check out the new AALL Member Services area in the exhibit hall, which will provide you with one-stop shopping for all the services your association provides. And don’t miss the exhibit hall drawings, where you can win lots of great prizes!

Be sure to save some time to explore this wonderful “City of Roses” by participating in one of the many library tours or excursions planned by our Local Advisory Committee, by touring on your own through Portland’s walkable downtown, or by losing yourself in the wonder of Powell’s City of Books.

We hope you’ll take advantage of all these great opportunities to expand your horizons and enhance your professional knowledge. Energize, Explore, and Evolve with us!

Ann Fessenden Diana Jaque, Chair
AALL President 2008 Annual Meeting Program Committee

AALL Member Services Booth and Activities Area
New this year, AALL is hosting a Member Services Booth in the Exhibit Hall (CD), which includes information about your Association, a lounge with comfy seating and room to network with your colleagues. The Member Services Booth will serve as a gateway to the AALL Activities Area, where you will find information about AALL committees, special interest sections, chapters, caucuses and much more. The raffle drawings, Meet the Candidates Forum, awards recognition and a celebration of Law Library Journal’s 100th volume will take place in the booth area. Stop by the new AALL Member Services Booth and Activities Area to explore your Association and learn what AALL can do for you. See page 12 for hours.

Americans with Disabilities Act
The American Association of Law Libraries complies with the provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act as it applies to the segments of the Annual Meeting that are under the direction and control of the Association. Wireless headsets, sign language interpreters and CART services must be requested in advance by members with special needs. Wheelchairs are not available at the convention center and must be ordered in advance through AALL. The MAX Light Rail is mobility device accessible.

Audio Recordings
Audio CDs will be available for purchase at the Audio Recording Sales booth in the Oregon Convention Center, and MP3 downloads will be available for purchase online post-conference. You can purchase recordings of individual programs or a complete set of all recorded programs.

Child Care
Most Conference hotels can provide the names of licensed, bonded services to babysit for AALL members. Please make your arrangements as early as possible since services vary by hotel.

Closing Banquet
Hilton Portland & Executive Tower – Grand Ballroom
Tuesday, July 15 6:00 p.m. – 12:00 a.m.
(reception, dinner, dance)
sponsored by Wolters Kluwer Law & Business
We’ll be rolling out the green carpet for your dining and dancing pleasure at this year’s Closing Banquet! Begin the evening by swapping Annual Meeting stories with friends over a refreshing Oregon-made aperitif. (May we suggest a refreshing Pale Ale or an award-winning Pinot Noir?) Then experience the gastronomic delights of Northwest cuisine featuring fresh local ingredients. After dinner, dance the night away with Metro, one of Portland’s favorite bands. Join us and discover that although it may not always be easy being green, it sure can be fun!
The Joseph L. Andrews Bibliographical Award and the Marian Gould Gallagher Award will be presented at the Closing Banquet.
Coat/Bag Check Service
As many attendees will spend most of their day attending meetings and programs in the Oregon Convention Center, AALL has arranged for a coat and bag check service. Check your coat, bag, exhibits giveaways, laptop or even luggage. Attendee costs for the service are $1.00 per item ($2.00 per suitcase). The coat/bag check room is located in the Martin Luther King, Jr., lobby, and service hours are:

- Sunday, July 13: 7:00 a.m. – 7:00 p.m.
- Monday, July 14: 7:00 a.m. – 7:00 p.m.
- Tuesday, July 15: 7:00 a.m. – 5:30 p.m.

Items unclaimed by the end of the conference will be taken to Lost & Found (503.235.7575). AALL is not responsible for lost or damaged items.

NEW THIS YEAR! Instead of finding program evaluation forms in your registration bag, check your e-mail! Please take a few minutes to complete the paperless evaluations for the programs you attend. Your valued feedback helps to shape AALL’s continuing education opportunities.

Educational Program Handout Materials and Evaluations
The online Educational Program Handout Materials Collection has been available since mid-June for attendees to download at http://programmaterials.aallnet.org. You can preview, print and bring only the materials for the programs you wish to attend. Kiosks are available in the Registration check-in area of the Oregon Convention Center for printing these materials, if you have not already done so. If you purchased the complete Educational Program Handout Materials Collection in print or on a CD when you pre-registered, you may pick it up at the Registration Desk when you check in.

Excursions/Tours
Excursions will depart from the Oregon Convention Center’s main entrance on Martin Luther King, Jr., Boulevard, with the exception of the Portland Walking Tour and the Ghostly Spirits and Scandalous Tales Walking Tour, which will depart from the Sixth Avenue lobby entrance of the Hilton Portland & Executive Tower (main building). Please arrive for your excursion 10-15 minutes prior to the start time. Confirmation letters have been sent via e-mail, and tickets must be picked up at least 30 minutes prior to tour time at the Excursions/Tours Desk in the Registration area of the Oregon Convention Center. Registration fees for any tour canceled by ACCENT on Arrangements, Inc. will be refunded without penalty. Space permitting, tours may also be booked on site at the Excursions/Tours Desk. See page 12 for hours.

Exhibit Hall
Join us for the ribbon-cutting ceremony that opens the Exhibit Hall on Sunday, July 13, at 9:00 a.m., and celebrate with complimentary coffee and pastries until 10:00 a.m. This is just the beginning of your opportunity to explore more than 20,000 square feet of exhibits featuring the latest professional materials and services. Monday and Tuesday afternoon refreshment breaks will take place in the Exhibit Hall, during which time attendees will have the chance to win fabulous prizes, such as laptop computers, digital cameras and iPods. Visit the new Member Services Booth and stroll through the AALL Activities Area to learn the latest news from the AALL committees, special interest sections, chapters and caucuses. The Exhibit Hall closes on Tuesday, July 15, at 3:00 p.m., so plan your schedule to take full advantage of this unique information marketplace. Exhibit Hall access is limited to persons 16 years and older unless they are accompanied by an adult.

Family Social Hour

"A Night at the (Children’s) Museum"
Saturday, July 12 5:15 p.m. – 7:30 p.m.

AALL members who registered for this event with their children will enjoy "A Night at the (Children’s) Museum." The Museum will be open exclusively for AALL attendees and their children for a private bash. Enjoy yummy pizza and homemade sodas from Hotlips Pizza and then get to exploring! There’s something for every age (including the young at heart). Exhibits include: The Grasshopper Grocery & Butterfly Bistro (retail store with “food” and cash registers), Building Bridgetown (a hands-on construction exhibit), the Dig Pit (with rubber “gravel,” plus plenty of buckets, shovels, dump trucks and a conveyor belt) and more!

Special note: AALL has arranged for a group pass to ride the MAX train to the Children’s Museum and back. Specific boarding times have been e-mailed to registered attendees, who may board at either the Convention Center or Pioneer Square stops. At the MAX stops, look for AALL members carrying posters with “AALL Families.” If you want to arrange your own transportation, the Children’s Museum is located at 4015 S.W. Canyon Road, Portland, across from the Oregon Zoo.

Future Annual Meeting and Conference Dates and Locations
2010 July 10-13 Colorado Convention Center, Denver, CO
2011 July 23-26 Pennsylvania Convention Center, Philadelphia, PA
2012 July 21-24 John B. Hynes Veterans Memorial Convention Center, Boston, MA
2013 July 13-16 Washington State Convention & Trade Center, Seattle, WA

Hospitality/Information

The Hospitality Booth is located outside Exhibit Hall (CD) in the Oregon Convention Center. Local information professionals (assisted by friendly volunteers from across the country) will help you find your way around Portland and answer questions about places to eat, shop and sightsee. Sign up for daily raffles of Portland-themed gift baskets, and make table reservations for the Closing Banquet. Reservations must be made by 12:00 p.m. on Monday, July 14. See page 12 for hours.

Library Tours

Library tours will be offered during the Annual Meeting to showcase different kinds of Portland libraries—private law firm libraries, court libraries and academic libraries—and a bookstore, too. There is no charge for these tours, but advance registration is required. All tours will begin and end at the Sixth Avenue lobby entrance of the Hilton Portland & Executive Tower (main building). The bus tour will begin loading 15 minutes prior to departure next to the Hilton on Taylor Street and will leave promptly at the designated time. Walking tours will require up to 15 minutes of walking each way and may include the use of public transportation. Please bring a bottle of water with you, wear sunscreen and comfortable shoes, and a hat if you are particularly sensitive to the sun. Attendee badges will be required for all tours. Confirmations have been e-mailed to all tour registrants.

Lost and Found

Turn in, inquire about or claim lost articles at the AALL Staff Office, located in the Oregon Convention Center, Room B110-112, for the duration of the Conference. Direct all post-Conference inquiries to the Oregon Convention Center operator at 503.235.7575.

MAX Light Rail/Taxi

Free MAX Light Rail service is available to the Oregon Convention Center (OCC) from downtown hotels and the Doubletree Lloyd Center. From downtown, take the Red Line (toward Portland International Airport) or Blue Line (toward Gresham) to the Convention Center stop. The Courtyard by Marriott–Lloyd Center, Holiday Inn and Red Lion Convention Center are within walking distance of the OCC. All three MAX lines (Blue, Red and Yellow) run every 10-15 minutes every day roughly between 4:30 a.m. and midnight. For up-to-the-minute MAX arrival times, call 503.238.RIDE. The MAX is mobility device accessible. The Red Line can be accessed downtown or at the OCC for way and affordable ($2.05) transportation to Portland International Airport. The trip takes about 35 minutes.

Taxis can be hailed at taxi stands at the airport and hotels. At the OCC, you can request a taxi by dialing “0” from any house phone.

Medical Assistance

The first-aid office is located in the lobby area adjacent to the A-level meeting rooms and Exhibit Hall (A). EMT services will be available throughout the Meeting. In the event of a medical emergency at the Oregon Convention Center, please dial "0" immediately from any house phone to reach the in-house operator. Outside of the Convention Center, the Security Office can be reached at any time by dialing 503.731.7849. At the Hilton Portland & Executive Tower, dial "2222" on any house phone or 503.226.1611. Always be prepared to state your location and the nature of the illness or emergency.
Opening Event
Oregon Convention Center – Oregon Ballroom
Saturday, July 12 8:30 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.
Sunday, July 13 7:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.
Monday, July 14 7:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.
Tuesday, July 15 7:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

Interview rooms will be available:
Sunday, July 13 7:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.
Monday, July 14 7:00 a.m. – 10:30 a.m.
Tuesday, July 15 7:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

The Placement Office will have information on file about positions and candidates seeking positions. This office also posts job listings on bulletin boards, provides a resume drop-off service and provides limited space for interviews.

Public Relations Showcase
Looking for the latest ideas in marketing and public relations? Then don’t miss the 16th Annual Public Relations Showcase, sponsored by the AALL Public Relations Committee. You’ll find brochures, publications, bookmarks, tool kits and more on display in the Activities Area of the Exhibit Hall. Created by librarians, all featured materials stem from successful public relations campaigns in all types of law libraries. Members of the Public Relations Committee and public relations leaders from selected libraries will be on hand to discuss effective public relations strategies, provide samples and answer questions. The schedule of librarians participating will be posted in the AALL Activities Area and will appear in the daily newspaper, The Daily Rose. So come by and get inspired!

Registration Policies
Payment: Registrations received without payment will be held until payment is received.

Cancellations: AALL reserves the right to cancel workshops, programs and events if there is insufficient registration or for any other reason. AALL is not responsible for cancellation charges assessed by airlines or travel agencies, or other losses incurred due to cancellation of workshops, programs and events.

Refunds: Cancellations faxed or postmarked before June 16, 2008, will receive a full refund. Cancellations faxed or postmarked June 16 through June 30, 2008, will be assessed a 30 percent cancellation fee. Cancellations faxed or postmarked July 1 through July 11, 2008, will receive a 50 percent refund. No cancellations will be accepted after July 11, 2008. All requests for refunds must be made in writing by letter or fax. Refunds will be issued within six weeks after the conclusion of the meeting. This policy applies to all forms of payment.

Substitutions: Institutions that have remitted payment of the required fee are permitted to ‘substitute’ a replacement attendee from the same institution in place of the original registrant at any time.

No Wait-list: All registrations will be processed in the order in which they are received with payment. Once a program or event is fully subscribed, registration will be closed for that program or event. Wait-lists will not be maintained. Do not plan on attending a program or event unless you receive a confirmation notice that will admit you to the session. If you choose to pay by credit card, your card will be charged only for those sessions for which you receive a confirmed registration. If you make payment by check, your check will be deposited and a refund of the registration fee for the closed event will be mailed within six weeks after the end of the Meeting.

Self-service Business Center
A self-service business center is available in the Oregon Convention Center on the third floor next to the Operations Administration Office (overlooking the MLK lobby). It is open every day beginning at 7:00 a.m.; prices for available services are as follows:

- Access to computer system – $7.95 per 15 minutes
- Access to set laptop to print – $3.95 per 15 minutes
- Access to fax or scan pages – $2.99 per page
- Access to international fax – $5.00 per page
- Access to print airline boarding pass only – $3.00 flat fee
- Access to make copies – $5.25 per B&W copy
- Credit or debit card payment only

UPS shipping services will be available in the coat/bag check room in the Martin Luther King, Jr. lobby of the OCC on Monday afternoon and Tuesday. Credit/debit cards, cash and checks will be accepted, but UPS account numbers cannot be charged.
GENERAL INFORMATION

Speaker Assistance
Speakers and coordinators needing assistance should visit the AALL Staff Office at the Oregon Convention Center, Room B110-112, or dial “5720.” Speakers needing audio-visual assistance prior to their presentations or those who would like the opportunity to preview their presentations are encouraged to stop by the “Speaker Ready Room,” Room D131/132, in advance of their scheduled programs.

Staff Office
The AALL Staff Office is located in the Oregon Convention Center, Room B110-112. See page 12 for hours.

Volunteers
We couldn’t have done it without you! We are grateful for all the volunteers who stepped up to assist the Local Advisory Committee in offering the exciting events and activities listed in your final program. If you see a green ribbon fluttering from a name badge, take a moment to thank these hard-working folks for their efforts.

Washington, D.C., Conference Housing
Hotel reservations for the 2009 Annual Meeting and Conference in Washington, D.C., will be available starting Sunday, July 13, 2008. Stop by the Housing Desk in the Registration lobby during this year’s Conference for information on the official AALL hotels and to reserve your room early.

Wi-Fi
Wi-Fi (128k) Internet access is available in the Oregon Convention Center for $9.95 per computer for a 24-hour period. Signal access is available in most lobby and meeting room spaces, but not in the Exhibit Hall.
Just as AALL’s efforts to maximize the power of the law library community are ongoing and ever-expanding, so too are our efforts to make our Annual Meeting and Conference “green” and lessen the negative impacts this event can have on our environment. We have taken progressive steps in this direction for the past few years and find Portland to be an ideal place to highlight these efforts and introduce new ones.

AALL’s Green Initiatives

- AALL dramatically reduced paper consumption by building an online program and workshop proposal collection site and by placing the Educational Program Handout Materials Collection online. This has saved millions of pages of paper each year.
- At the conference, print-on-demand kiosks for handout materials now feature double-sided printers and post-consumer recycled paper.
- Educational program evaluations will be processed online for the first time this year. Instead of receiving paper forms, you will be able to evaluate the programs you attended online, which will save more than 75,000 printed pages. Check your e-mail and complete the evaluations—you could win a prize!
- This year’s registration badge (sponsored by BNA) is made of recycled materials and includes a refillable water bottle to use in place of disposable cups at the water stations.
- Plastic name badges will be collected and recycled.
- Come to the new Member Services Booth in the Exhibit Hall to pick up an AALL lanyard made of recycled material for your name badge—use it again at future meetings.
- AALL’s daily newspaper is printed with soy-based inks (as opposed to petroleum-based) on recycled-content paper.

Green Initiatives at Our Host Facilities

The Oregon Convention Center (OCC) is the first convention center to receive certification under the U.S. Green Building Council’s Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) Existing Buildings’ (EB) rating system. Efforts include:

- The OCC offers a waste recycling and recovery program that includes pre- and post-consumer organic waste, cardboard, newspaper, plastics, glass bottles, wood pallets, cooking oil and landscaping trimmings. All public areas inside the OCC have convenient, clearly marked recycling barrels for easy sorting.
- ARAMARK, the OCC’s food service company, serves condiments in bulk. This year, ARAMARK even offers entire sustainable menu selections. ARAMARK even offers entire sustainable menu selections.
- The OCC’s Rain Garden features an extensive system that takes rainwater from the facility’s roof and filters it through a series of settling ponds and landscaping before it’s released into the nearby Willamette River.
- The grounds and the building exteriors are both designed to reduce the “heat islands” produced by asphalt, concrete, or open hard-surface roofs. The use of natural/habitat vegetation in landscaping and the facility’s roof design meet Energy Star requirements for emissivity and reflectance.
- The OCC is a top-level supporter of the Blue Sky Block program, Pacific Power’s voluntary wind-power purchase program. The Blue Sky Block program is one of three options giving Pacific Power’s Oregon customers a way to help grow the demand for renewable energy.

The Hilton Portland & Executive Tower, AALL’s Headquarters Hotel and the largest hotel in Oregon, earned the Green Seal Lodging Properties Certification and continues its work to decrease its impact on the environment and improve sustainability. Efforts include the following:

- Compact fluorescent light bulbs in all guestrooms
- Motion-sensor thermostats in all guestrooms
- Guest bathrooms use low-flow toilets and showerheads and smaller basins
- Linen and towel reuse program for multiple-night guests
- Used shampoo and conditioner bottles donated to a local shelter
- Consumer paper products made from recycled fibers
- Copy machines defaulted to double-sided printing
- Preference given to product suppliers who provide and take back reusable packing and shipping pallets
- Preference given to environmentally responsible service suppliers
- Left-over food is composted or donated to a local farm or charity
- Condiments served in bulk
- Recycling bins throughout all meeting space
- Eco-friendly materials and cleaning products
- Double-sided printing on post-consumer recycled paper

AALL works closely with Ambassadors, our housing contractor, which has been incorporating best practices learned from more than 10 years of event management expertise. The company offers clients a more structured approach to include “green” policies into their own events and hotel negotiations.

- Tour a library, museum or local site.
- Join colleagues for a meal, tour or social event.

Rules of Conduct for AALL General Business Meeting

The Association will conduct one business meeting during the Portland Annual Meeting and Conference. The following rules, adopted by the Executive Board, will apply:

- All substantive motions, amendments to motions and amendments to the Bylaws must be submitted in triplicate to the Secretary of the Association before the Motion may be placed in discussion. A single copy will be acceptable only if the Motion must be drafted during a business meeting, when it is not practical to provide copies in triplicate.
- Voting members of the Association are required to wear their Annual Meeting badges to business meetings in order to be eligible to vote.
- Before speaking in debate or making a Motion, a member must use one of the microphones on the floor, address the chair and state his/her name and library affiliation and receive recognition. Attention is called to pertinent parts of the Association’s Bylaws:
  - Article IV (Summary) – Rights of voting shall be restricted to individual members, designated institutional members under institutional membership, student members and retired members.
  - Article XII, Section 1 (Excerpted) – Proposed amendments shall be voted on during the Annual Meeting of the Association and shall be adopted upon approval by two-thirds of the members present and voting unless 5 percent or more of the Association members eligible to vote have signed a petition requesting a mail ballot. Such petitions must be submitted to the Secretary before the beginning of the business meeting at which the vote on amendments is to be called.

Annual Review of Law and Social Science

VOLUME 4, DECEMBER 2008 | ONLINE & IN PRINT | HTTP://LAWANNUALREVIEWS.ORG

EDITOR: John Hagan, Northwestern University

Annual Review of Law and Social Science, in publication since 2005, strives to enhance the understanding of the complex connections between law, culture, social structure, and society by focusing on social scientific studies of law and law-like systems of rules, institutions, processes, and behaviors. This groundbreaking series provides multidisciplinary insights into the impact of law, aggregated human behavior and interactions, and the dynamics of decision-making and enforcement of authoritative rules, as well as the variations and changes in legal institutions and the management of social change by these institutions.

Planned Table of Contents for Volume 4 (SUBJECT TO CHANGE)

• After Inclusion, Debra W Carbone, Catherine Fish, Meta Golatt
• Americanization of Legal Education in Asia, Setse Myriazines, Wyung Lee, Kay-Wah Chin
• Broken Windows Theory, Jeffrey Fagan

OPENING GENERAL SESSION/
KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Sunday, July 13  •  10:15 a.m. – 11:45 a.m.
Oregon Convention Center –
Portland Ballroom 204-207

Keynote Speaker: David Pogue
Technology Columnist
The New York Times

Disruptive Tech: What’s New, and How It Will Change Everything

David Pogue has a front-row seat for observing the blazing-fast torrent of new inventions. Hundreds of gadgets and technologies come down the pike every year, and plenty get lots of press. But Pogue will stick his neck out to predict which will actually cause major, disruptive changes. In this fast, funny talk, he’ll display, discuss and even demonstrate the technological advances—in cellular tech, Web 2.0, entertainment and more—that will have the most impact on society in the coming years.

David Pogue, the personal technology columnist for The New York Times, will be the keynote speaker for the Opening General Session. Each week, he contributes a print column, an online column and an online video. His daily blog, “Pogue’s Posts,” is The Times’s most popular blog. He is also an Emmy award-winning technology correspondent for CBS News, a frequent guest on NPR’s Morning Edition and a regular on CNBC. Pogue also co-authored Crossing Platforms, a guide for people switching from Mac to Windows, or vice versa.

In 2007, Pogue was awarded an honorary doctorate in music from the Shenandoah Conservatory, and he has been profiled on both 48 Hours and 60 Minutes. He and his wife Jennifer Pogue, MD, live in Connecticut with their three young children. His Web site is www.davidpogue.com.

A-1 The Library’s Role in “Educating Lawyers”: Considering the Carnegie Report

Level: Introductory  OCC-F150/F151  75 Minutes

Competency: Teaching

Target Audience: All librarians interested in legal education

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to discuss issues involved in the curriculum reform debate.
2) Participants will be prepared to identify the roles they may be able to play in curriculum reform.

The curriculum used in most law schools has changed very little since Christopher Langdell developed the case method in the 1870s. In recent years, however, a growing number of legal educators and members of the profession have been advocating for curriculum reform, enhancing the practice-oriented skills of law students, in particular. The Carnegie Foundation’s Report, “Educating Lawyers: Preparation for the Profession of Law,” has been used as a springboard for such discussions by various law schools and legal education associations. An author of the Carnegie Report will provide an overview of the observations and recommendations of the report, as well as the learning theories behind these recommendations. A panel of library directors and legal educators will then discuss the roles that libraries can play in curriculum reform, and the services, programs and courses librarians can offer to make graduates more “practice ready.” Time will be allotted for attendees to ask questions and make suggestions at the end of the presentation.

Billie Jo Kaufman, American University, Washington College of Law, Pence Law Library
Elizabeth Rindskopf Parker, University of Pacific, McGeorge School of Law

A-2 The Evolving Role of Law Librarians with Self-Represented Litigants

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will gain proven best practices from other firm librarians that will build upon leadership skills such as critical thinking and creative risk taking.
2) Participants will learn about the Self Represented Litigant Network and AALL's investment in its programs.

Application:
Public law libraries and, to a lesser extent, academic law libraries, are searching for the best way to provide for the self-represented litigants (SRLs) who need information. This program will concentrate on how to prioritize system changes. The speakers will concentrate on how to do strategic planning for SRL programs and services. Two law librarians will speak about their work in determining their communities' needs for service to SRLs; how to identify and network with the other important players (such as the bar, legal services and the courts), and how to evaluate the effectiveness of their programs. Another speaker will discuss how a court's services could be replicated by law libraries.

The conclusion will be a short explanation of AALL's support of the Self Represented Litigant Network and how its information gathering and networking can assist those working in this field.

Marcus L. Hochstetler, Moderator, King County Law Library
Michael Dennard, Idaho Supreme Court
Sara Gallagher, Dakota County Law Library
Coral Henning, Sacramento County Public Law Library
Jessica Van Buren, Utah State Law Library

A-3 Educating the "C" People: Engage Your Decision Makers and Help Them to Evolve

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will learn how to strategically plan for services for pro se.
2) Participants will learn about the Self Represented Litigant Network and AALL's investment in its programs.

Application:
In order to leverage your assets and achieve library goals, you need to identify the "go-to" people and explain ways to negotiate and partner for what you want, including the annual budget. You will learn best practices that help you explore ways to get what you need and how to seek out opportunities to prove your worth in your organization. Come join this lively discussion as the panelists address these issues, as well as your questions, about educating the "C" people (CEO, CFO, COO), the decision makers in your organization.

A-4 International Law and the Evolving Knowledge Society

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will discover issues in common among diverse information sources, such as UNESCO, social networking analysts and intellectual property lawyers.
2) Participants will be able to locate draft treaties, reports and proposals for Access to Knowledge (A2K) initiatives on the international level and among developing country and indigenous cultures.

Application: So critical to global human development is the ability to acquire "access to knowledge and the ability to contest and create new knowledge" that the UNESCO World Summit on the Information Society (Geneva 2003-Tunis 2005) issued its Geneva Declaration of Principles with the loftiest of goals: a broad and democratic information society that is global in reach. The Information Age is also becoming a Participation Age, in which both consumers and disempowered groups seize collaborative networks to create new meanings, as well as to engage in political and commercial activities. This transformation challenges concepts in both municipal and international law as the global network reaches into every part of the world. Does international law have a role to play in balancing the social use of information technology with its traditional freedoms?

Marylin J. Raisch, Coordinator, Moderator and Speaker, Georgetown University Law Libraries
James M. Chen, Louis S. Brandeis School of Law, University of Louisville
Lea Bishop Shaver, Information Society Project, Yale Law School

Cheryl Niemeier, Bose McKinney & Evans LLP
Deborah S. Panella, Cravath, Swaine & Moore LLP
Holly Pinto, Holland & Hart LLP

A-5 Encore, Enterprise, Primo and WorldCat Local: Explore the Evolving Discovery Tools for Your Catalog
Learning Outcomes:

1) Participants will be able to assess the resources needed and cost benefits of implementing a discovery platform within their library.

2) Participants will be able to evaluate the effectiveness, functionality and features of various discovery platforms to leverage their library service.

Four librarians will convey their experiences implementing and assessing four different discovery platforms at their respective libraries. Discovery platforms create a complete search experience for users by retrieving all the relevant local and remote resources available, and then presenting the results to users in a context that makes sense. Discovery platforms use federated searching, relevancy ranking, faceted browsing, real-time holdings and status information, cover art and additional evaluative content.

The panelists will discuss their chosen discovery platform's implementation, customization and functionality on Ex Libris' Primo, Innovative Interfaces' Encore, OCLC's WorldCat Local and SirsiDynix's Enterprise Portal Solution (EPS). They will answer the question: Has their OPAC evolved into a single, coherent finding tool in one-search box?

Keiko Okuhara, Coordinator and Moderator, University of Hawai'i
William S. Richardson School of Law
Richard M. Jost, University of Washington, Gallagher Law Library
Mary Jane Kelsey, Yale Law School, Lillian Goldman Library
Julie Loder, Vanderbilt University
Debra Moore, Cerritos College

A-6 From Books to Facebook: Can We Energize Privacy as Library 2.0 Services Evolve?

Level: Intermediate

Competency: Reference, Research and Patron Services

Target Audience: Public services, administrative and IT librarians in academic, firm and government law libraries

Learning Outcomes:

1) Participants will be able to identify privacy issues in the broad spectrum of innovative Library 2.0 services.

2) Participants will be able to develop and apply strategies for modifying services to support privacy and for choosing between service and privacy when compromises are not possible.

Some warn that to stay relevant libraries must embrace participatory networks like Facebook or del.icio.us as tools for effective learning, building Library 2.0 services, even at the expense of privacy. Others assert library privacy and anonymous reading are protected by librarians' professional ethics and the law and are essential to our democracy. How might libraries limit or prevent the collection and secondary uses of personally identifying information used in Library 2.0 services? Speakers will demonstrate Library 2.0 services, identify how they may threaten privacy, and explore options for preserving privacy in the world of changing technologies and changing values.

Participants will track scenarios of how to weigh privacy interests against innovative library services, and will consider solutions appropriate for different environments, including their home library.

B-1 Explore the Secret Workings of the FISA Court

Level: Intermediate

OCC-F150/151
60 Minutes

Competency: Core Competencies for Law Librarianship

Target Audience: All librarians who are interested in the current state of the FISA Court and how the government investigates terrorism suspects

Learning Outcomes:

1) Participants will learn how a culture of government secrecy impacts our open and democratic society.

2) Participants will be able to explain the workings of the FISA Court, including its goals, the current results from this process, and the positive and negative impacts of this Court in a post-9/11 society.

The impact of the PATRIOT Act and the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court are widely discussed, but the collaborative process how the courts work is largely unknown. This program will answer questions like: How does the FISA Court work? How does it impact librarians' daily work? What is the impact of government requests on law libraries?

Judge Lamberth will give librarians insight into this secret world of government activity. Mr. Susman will offer his perspective on obtaining foreign intelligence information, how the PATRIOT Act and subsequent amendments have expanded government surveillance, and what impact librarians' concerns have had on this type of government activity. Mr. Susman will offer his perspective on the secret court, from the viewpoint of a lawyer and his many years experience with freedom of information issues. These speakers will also answer questions from the audience. This program will not only inform librarians of the inner workings of the FISA Court and discuss the impact of National Security Letters, but will also explore the current culture of government secrecy and how it affects librarians and citizens alike.

Mary Alice Bash, Coordinator, AALL Washington Affairs Office
Camilla Tubbs, Moderator, Yale Law School, Lillian Goldman Library
Royce C. Lambeth, U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia
Thomas M. Susman, Government Affairs Office, American Bar Association

B-2 Serving the Mentally Ill Patron: Theory and Techniques for Safe Interactions

Level: Introductory
OCC-Portland Ballroom 251  60 Minutes

Competency: Reference, Research and Patron Services

Target Audience: All law librarians who interact with library patrons

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to understand the spectrum of copyright policy that exists among firms and learn where on this spectrum their firm’s copyright policy falls.
2) Participants will be able to discover advantages and shortcomings of enterprise photocopy licenses, the characteristics and percentage of law firms that have such licenses, and how legal related licenses compare to Copyright Clearance Center (CCC) licenses for other professions.

Elise Thompson, Washington County Adult Mental Health

Jennifer S. Murray, Coordinator and Moderator, Maricopa County Superior Court, Law Library

B-3 Evolving Fair Use Policies in the Private Law Firm

Level: Advanced
OCC-Portland Ballroom 252  60 Minutes

Competency: Library Management

Target Audience: Law librarians and copyright specialists in private law firms

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to identify methods to establish a safe library environment during interactions with mentally ill patrons.
2) Participants will be able to use appropriate psychological techniques when dealing with a mentally ill patron to improve the librarian-patron interaction.

Public law libraries can attract patrons with a variety of mental illnesses. However, librarians typically are not versed in how to interact with such individuals or identify warning signs of potentially dangerous situations. This program will give you the basic skills you need to improve your ability to interact with the mentally ill. The speaker, who works with Washington County (Oregon) Adult Mental Health, is experienced with helping library staff to work effectively and respectfully with mentally ill patrons. With this guidance, you can develop an appropriate reference interview for mentally ill patrons and identify warning signs in their behavior that should be cause for concern. This program will leave you with the ability to treat this special patron base with the dignity they deserve, while at the same time preserving the safety and learning environment for other patrons and library staff.

Elise Thompson, Washington County Adult Mental Health

B-4 Mandatory Digital TV and the Evolution of Library DVD Collections

Level: Intermediate
OCC-Portland Ballroom 253  60 Minutes

Competency: Collection Care and Management

Target Audience: Library administrators, collection development librarians and audiovisual librarians

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to review the history of the United States’ mandatory digital television policy.
2) Participants will be able to identify key features of high-definition DVD formats and equipment.

In August 1995, the U.S. Federal Communications Commission invited comment on the nation’s transition to digital broadcasting, and stated its goals to preserve a free, universal broadcasting service; foster an expeditious and orderly transition to digital technology while taking into account consumer investment in NTSC analog TV’s; recover contiguous blocks of spectrum; and ensure the spectrum would be used to best serve public interest. Since then, to help guide and regulate the development of high-definition TV capabilities, several Public Laws and numerous FCC directives have established digital TV (DTV) license distribution, DTV facility construction, DTV service guidelines, required DTV tuners, as well as spectrum reallocation and licensing—all in preparation for the scheduled end of analog TV service on February 18, 2009. Unfortunately, beyond these essentially “broadcast” issues, additional effects of the mandatory DTV policy upon the audiovisual software and hardware industries are not receiving equal attention, guidance or regulation. Libraries must now deal with DTV collection development format and equipment issues analogous to the VHS and Beta issues of the videocassette era. This program will provide a brief history of the development of the mandatory DTV policy, as well as extensively review features of current HD and Blu-ray DVD formats and equipment.

B-5 The Librarian as Author; AALL/LexisNexis Call for Papers

OCC-Portland Ballroom 254  60 Minutes

Come meet the award-winning authors of the 2008 AALL/LexisNexis Call for Papers competition. At this program, the winners discuss how they chose their subjects, and the challenges of writing while working, among other topics of interest to those who want to add “author” to their list of accomplishments. An expert will also speak on how to get published in our professional literature.

Joseph Gerken, Coordinator, The University at Buffalo, State University of New York

B-6 Beer and the Law: A Legal History of Beer, Brewing and Government Regulation from the German Purity Law to the Microbrew Movement

Level: Introductory  OCC-Portland Ballroom 255  60 Minutes

Competency: Library Management

Target Audience: Reference, Research and Patron Services

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to describe the history of beer and brewing, from ancient Egypt to the present day.
2) Participants will be able to explain the brewing process and the laws and regulations that govern it.

To commemorate Portland’s status as a microbrew mecca, come explore the legal history of its most famous beverage: beer! From the German Purity Law of 1516 to Prohibition, beer has been among the most heavily regulated beverages. This program will examine the history of beer with a special emphasis on the laws and regulations that have governed the industry. Attendees will also learn about the brewing process from one of Portland’s master brewers.

Mark Podvia, Coordinator, Moderator and Speaker, Dickinson School of Law Library of the Pennsylvania State University

James Emmerson, Full Sail Brewing Co.

C-1 Conflict Resolution—in Search of the Holy Grail: “Your Mother Was a Hamster and Your Father Smelt of Elderberries!”

Level: Introductory  OCC-Portland Ballroom 255  60 Minutes

Competency: Library Management

Target Audience: All members, as conflict exists at all levels within every organization

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to describe the history of beer and brewing, from ancient Egypt to the present day.
2) Participants will be able to explain the brewing process and the laws and regulations that govern it.

C-2 Strategic Plans That Work: Creating a Strategic Plan for a Law Library

Level: Intermediate  OCC-Portland Ballroom 251  60 Minutes

Competency: Library Management

Target Audience: Managers of law libraries and individuals who want to become managers of law libraries

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will learn to formulate a strategic plan using the elements of a traditional plan, including a mission statement, vision statement, goals and objectives.
2) Participants will be able to apply the notion of a traditional strategic plan specifically to the law library setting, including balancing institutional and departmental interests, producing confidential information, and reaching out effectively to institutional (academic, law firm, corporate or government agency) leadership.

Libraries are, with increasing frequency, expected to function as a segment of a business and not simply as a traditional library. As part of that new function, librarians are being required to produce traditional business documents, such as strategic plans. The ability to understand and create a strategic plan positions the library and its librarian(s) to be an integral part of their organization. Creating a strategic plan for a law library requires adapting the traditional plan elements to fit a unique environment. This adaptation includes balancing institutional and library departmental interests, the need to protect institutional confidential information, and the necessity of reaching out to institutional leadership. The strategic plan itself helps convey to management the value of the library from a business perspective. At the same time, it communicates to management a broader scope of library goals and outcomes than traditionally available, showcasing the ability of the library and librarian) to plan for and manage that segment of the business.

Ruth Levor, Coordinator and Moderator, University of San Diego, will demonstrate how law librarians interested in working with Internet-based resources on a small or large scale can provide quality research and ready reference software to promote their services. They will explore how the real-time legal research and ready reference techniques now employed by many law librarians are elaborated and applied every day to legal news production on JURIST (jurist.law.pitt.edu), the Webby-winning legal news service headquartered at the University of Pittsburgh School of Law. JURIST publisher and editor-in-chief Professor Bernard Hibbitts and a member of JURIST’s law student staff will discuss the challenges of covering appropriate national and international legal developments as they happen, researching and contextualizing them with reliable primary and secondary sources under intense real-time pressure, writing them up in an Internet-friendly manner as members of virtual editorial teams, and delivering them over user-friendly publishing software to a worldwide audience on the Web—all while maintaining essential quality control. They will demonstrate how law librarians interested in working with Internet-based resources on a small or large scale can provide quality real-time research content online to domestic and worldwide audiences via blogware, RSS and other delivery systems.

Joan Stear, Moderator and Speaker, Boston College Law Library, and Leslie Schulman, University of Houston, will address possible technological solutions that state governments could implement to make their online legal resources both official and authentic.

Karen W. Silber, Coordinator, BNA, and Thomas Wrosch, Oregon Secretary of State, Corporate Division, will explore possible actions to incorporate these concepts into legislation, including any role that the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws might assume. Thomas Wrosch, senior policy advisor in the Office of the Secretary of State of Oregon, will address possible technological solutions that state governments could implement to make their online legal resources both official and authentic.

C-3 Explore the Real World in Real Time: Making Legal News on JURIST
Level: Intermediate
OCC-Portland Ballroom 255
60 Minutes

Competency: Information Technology
Target Audience: Law librarians who are interested in providing reliable primary and secondary sources under intense real-time pressure.
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to identify and use Internet publishing software to promote their services.
2) Participants will be able to post real-time legal research content to broad and targeted audiences.
3) Participants will be able to list three activities that will help bring law librarians to the two leading organizations impacting legal education and public service.

C-4 Official but Not Authentic: The Future of Electronic Legal Information
Level: Advanced
OCC-Portland Ballroom 252
60 Minutes

Competency: Core Competencies for Law Librarianship
Target Audience: Librarians who are interested in the future of reliable legal information
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will explore the concepts of official status and authenticity of online legal resources and the interrelation of the two.
2) Participants will be able to list three activities that will help bring about electronic legal information that can be authenticated.

3) Participants will gain an appreciation for the importance of pairing substantive knowledge with advocacy skills when working in a new area of law.

Animal law is an emerging practice area. This session will introduce you to the two leading organizations impacting legal education and public service librarians who are assisting researchers, clinic students and others interested in this emerging area of law.

1) Participants will gain an understanding of the developing area of animal law and its impact on legal curriculum, the research needs of patrons and collection development.
2) Participants will gain an appreciation for the importance of improving enforcement of anti-cruelty laws by filing lawsuits, assisting prosecutors handling animal cruelty cases, working to improve statutory protections, and supporting law students via Student Animal Legal Defense Fund Chapters. What is animal law, and how does it affect your patrons and your library? Find out from the attorneys and educators working in the field.

Ann Herrmann, Coordinator and Moderator, University of Washington, Gallagher Law Library, Pamela Frasch, Animal Legal Defense Fund, and Laura Ireland Moore, National Center for Animal Law, will share their follow-up activities and experiences. Michele Timmons, reviser of statues for the State of Minnesota and a member of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, will explore possible actions to incorporate these concepts into legislation, including any role that the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws might assume. Thomas Wrosch, senior policy advisor in the Office of the Secretary of State of Oregon, will address possible technological solutions that state governments could implement to make their online legal resources both official and authentic.

C-5 Animal Law: An Emerging Area of Practice and Clinical Legal Education
Level: Introductory
OCC-F150/151
60 Minutes

Competency: Reference, Research and Patron Services
Target Audience: Public service librarians who are assisting researchers, clinic students and others interested in this emerging area of law
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will gain an understanding of the developing area of animal law and its impact on legal curriculum, the research needs of patrons and collection development.
2) Participants will gain an appreciation for the importance of improving enforcement of anti-cruelty laws by filing lawsuits, assisting prosecutors handling animal cruelty cases, working to improve statutory protections, and supporting law students via Student Animal Legal Defense Fund Chapters. What is animal law, and how does it affect your patrons and your library? Find out from the attorneys and educators working in the field.

Thomas Wrosch, senior policy advisor in the Office of the Secretary of State of Oregon, will address possible technological solutions that state governments could implement to make their online legal resources both official and authentic.
Recently, the State of Oregon Legislative Counsel Committee sent Justice a notice of copyright infringement and demand to cease and desist online publication of the Revised Statutes online. Carl Malamud and Tim Stanley will share the story of this struggle to keep the laws of Oregon freely available. But what about the rest of the country? Can state governments prohibit others from downloading, reproducing or distributing their laws? Can courts provide similar restrictions by the nature of their vendor dealings? (They do in California!) The speakers will address these questions, too, sharing their concerns and experiences in this area. This session will provide both an update on a timely issue, and serve as a call to action on how each of us can get involved in the open access movement.

D-4 Exploring Direct Results: Energizing Teaching Using Audience Response Tools

Level: Intermediate
OCC-Portland Ballroom 253  45 Minutes

Compétency: Teaching
Target Audience: Individuals who are involved in training sessions, seminar presentations and teaching

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will gain first-hand knowledge of currently developed audience response system (ARS) technologies.
2) Participants will be able to evaluate the practical application of ARS technologies to their teaching experiences.

Seminar presentations are tricky. Preparation, delivery and connection are key components to conducting a successful meeting. Studies have demonstrated that interactive learning techniques enhance content and increase knowledge retention. Equipped with an audience response system (ARS) and the right training, lecturers can now use their new, interactive delivery system designed to grab audiences’ attention. With ARS technology, a speaker can survey audience demographics, ask multiple-choice or true-false questions and, within seconds, see audience responses. Upon closing the survey, lecturers can immediately present the results for discussion and confirmation. This program will highlight how the combination of ARS technology and PowerPoint presentations empower lecturers to connect with their audiences more effectively.

D-5 One War We Are Losing Now: The Law and Politics of Human Trafficking

Level: Intermediate
OCC-Portland Ballroom 254  45 Minutes

Compétency: Reference, Research and Patron Services
Target Audience: FCIL librarians and reference librarians

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to analyze the issues related to a major human rights topic.
2) Participants will be able identify source material relevant to this topic.

In his book, Illicit: How Smugglers, Traffickers and Copycats are Hijacking the Global Economy, Moises Naim, editor of the journal Foreign Policy, has identified human trafficking as one of five wars that the international community is losing. How can the international community respond? Has it created the political and legal institutions to address this problem? This program will discuss current responses to the issue of human trafficking, as well as needed reforms in this area. Participants will develop an understanding of this important human rights area, and will be able to identify and use significant sources for research and collection development.

E-1 Lawyers in the Library: Exploring New Ways to Serve Our Public Patrons

Level: Introductory
OCC-F150/151  45 Minutes

Compétency: Reference, Research and Patron Services
Target Audience: Public law librarians who are interested in starting a “Lawyers in the Library” program

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will learn what has worked and what hasn’t worked in existing programs.
2) Participants will be able to identify strengths and weaknesses of their current communication and receive tips on improving the flow of information among offices.

Keri-Ann M. Philip, Coordinator and Moderator, Hunton & Williams

Elaine Moloney, Hunton & Williams

Robert Oaks, Latham & Watkins

“Lawyers in the Library” programs are innovative partnerships between librarians and their legal community’s pro bono sector. This enhancement to library services helps fill a critical need among low-income people for access to the information that can help them function within the legal system. Speakers will cover their programs’ origins and evolution, and give planning and operational details. Participants will learn what has worked and what hasn’t in these trailblazing programs, pitfalls to avoid on the path to success, and methods of evaluating the effectiveness and measuring the outcomes of this win-win-win relationship.
E-2 A Century in the Making: Researching Legal Ethics Today

Level: Intermediate  OCC-Portland Ballroom 251  45 Minutes

Competency: Reference, Research and Patron Services

Target Audience: Reference and research librarians from all types of law libraries

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to identify the essential documents associated with legal ethics.
2) Participants will be able to compare and critique print and online resources used in researching legal ethics.

2008 marks the 100th Anniversary of the ABA’s adoption of the Canons of Professional Ethics. In recognition of this occasion, the presenters will analyze and contrast the essential print and electronic resources for researching issues in legal ethics and the law governing lawyers in today’s research environment. The size and complexity of the Internet, combined with the variety of specialized electronic databases found in law libraries today, has transformed the ways in which law students, attorneys and librarians research this important area of law. The presenters will incorporate into the presentation a discussion of recent issues in legal ethics, and they will use this dialogue as a platform for highlighting the research tools and methodologies relevant to the teaching and practice of this essential subject.

E-3 The Evolving Role of the Solo Librarian: How to Do It All Without Losing Your Mind

Level: Intermediate  OCC-Portland Ballroom 252  45 Minutes

Competency: Library Management

Target Audience: Librarians who are the only professional librarian in their firm or their location

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to compare the experiences of colleagues and how their roles have changed.
2) Participants will be able to use this knowledge to effectively work with changes and develop opportunities in their own workplace.

Speakers will present the results of a survey of solo librarians—particularly those in a law firm setting—providing commentary and leading a discussion of those results.

E-4 30 Critical Technology Tools: Free and Inexpensive Software to Help Your Daily Life

Level: Intermediate  OCC-Portland Ballroom 253  45 Minutes

Competency: Information Technology

Target Audience: Library staff who use computers frequently for reference, research or Web maintenance

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will learn the basics of relevancy ranking systems as they relate to performing library reference service.
2) Participants will also learn the pros and cons of relevancy ranking systems associated with legal ethics.

This will be a fast-paced program to show 30 software programs or Web-based services useful for managing and interacting with information on computers. There are a wealth of free and low-cost services available, many of which are underutilized. Software and services to be presented will include file-download managers, research collection tools, Web-based messaging clients, browser add-ons for troubleshooting Web sites, free tools for creating Internet Web browser toolbars and several Web-based services. Services likely to be covered in this session include: Firebug, Web Developer Toolbar, Conduit.com, Meebo, Kuler, Zotero and AddThis.com.

E-5 Exploring Relevancy Ranking Systems in Search Engines on the Web and in Our OPACs: What They Are and How They Work

Level: Introductory  OCC-Portland Ballroom 254  45 Minutes

Competency: Information Technology

Target Audience: Librarians from any size or type of organization who want a better understanding of relevancy ranking systems in search engines

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will learn about new technology tools that are available to improve daily research and computing tasks.
2) Participants will discover new techniques for managing information and troubleshooting technical problems.

Most librarians see the relevancy rankings displayed in search results in their library’s OPAC and as they use the Web in their work. However, most librarians do not understand the software which underpins these ranking systems. Therefore, this introductory, lecture-style program will teach participants what relevancy rankings are and how they work. The speaker will include the pros and cons of relevancy ranking systems as they relate to all librarians who use the Internet and who routinely use their library’s OPAC for reference service.

E-6 Fostering and Recruiting the Next Generation of Law Librarians

Level: Intermediate OCC-Portland Ballroom 255 45 Minutes

Competency: Library Management

Target Audience: Law librarians in any setting looking to enhance recruitment, and engage and inspire individuals to become part of the profession

Learning Outcomes:

1) Participants will gain an understanding of various recruitment techniques that may entice educated individuals to the profession and encourage those who have demonstrated an interest in law librarianship.

2) Participants will be able to make simple active choices at their law library that will enhance recruitment and foster individuals who are interested in the profession.

Recruiting people to the profession can be an ongoing challenge. Librarians want to attract and encourage individuals that have some exposure to and understanding of the profession and its culture. Librarians also want to appeal to candidates that will enjoy and contribute to the law librarian community. Often relationships with potential law librarians can be encouraged long before the educational requirements for the profession are met. This program will provide guidance on many recruiting and fostering techniques from individuals who are using them in their own libraries.

F-1 Flashlights, FOIA and Advocacy: Tools for the Explorer in Search of Disappearing and Restricted Federal Documents

Level: Intermediate OCC-F150/151 60 Minutes

Competency: Reference, Research and Patron Services

Target Audience: Public services, government documents and administrative librarians who are interested in access to federal documents

Learning Outcomes:

1) Participants will be able to identify federal agency and presidential materials that have restricted access

2) Participants will be able to develop methodologies for retrieving restricted government materials and for advocacy for information access.

Federal agency documents have been removed from Web pages, and Presidential records have been restricted in the name of national security or executive privilege in recent years. Some say the restrictions have gone too far, and AALL has gone on record advocating legislation to provide better information access. Speakers will identify samples of disappearing and unpublished federal executive branch materials that law libraries and their users are likely to seek, and will provide up-to-date guidance on how FOIA and E-FOIA may be helpful in securing access. Speakers will outline key developments in legislation, executive orders and court decisions that shape the tension between limited and open access. PowerPoint and handouts will support the presentations, and speakers will invite questions from the audience.

F-2 Teaching Tax and Other Tedious Topics: Top Tax Profs Trade Tips

Level: Intermediate OCC-Portland Ballroom 255 60 Minutes

Competency: Teaching

Target Audience: Legal research instructors

Learning Outcomes:

1) Participants will compare techniques for teaching dry topics to today’s law students.

2) Participants will be able to apply innovative and humorous aspects to their teaching styles.

Teaching legal research and tax law: These dry ingredients are dull as dirt and unappealing to today’s law students. Add a quart of creativity, a heaping tablespoon of humor, and a pinch of personality: Shazam! You have concocted a rich, gooey confection for which students will clamor! Transform your tepid legal research instruction using tools and tricks from two tax professors who are wizards at energizing a wickedly dull subject.

F-3 Acquiring Content in a Global Marketplace: Exploring Vendor Relations Across Borders

Level: Intermediate OCC-Portland Ballroom 252 60 Minutes

Competency: Collection Care and Management

Target Audience: Librarians who acquire content from non-U.S. vendors

American Association of Law Libraries 101st Annual Meeting and Conference
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to describe the potential barriers to the successful acquisition of content from foreign vendors.
2) Participants will learn how to overcome obstacles that may occur in cross-border commerce.
With the expansion of globalization in the law and the increasing availability of foreign e-content, more librarians are dealing with non-U.S.-based vendors. This program will highlight the areas of concern for libraries when acquiring content from foreign vendors. Attendees will hear from three vendors (one based in the United States and two based in other countries) and an acquisitions librarian with experience in foreign acquisitions.

F-4 Energize Your Catalog! Get Electronic Titles Out of Their Silos and into Your OPAC
Level: Advanced OCC-Portland Ballroom 253 60 Minutes
Competency: Collection Care and Management
Target Audience: All librarians who are interested in improving patron access by adding records for electronic titles to their online catalogs
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to analyze how their users currently locate individual titles in electronic databases, and will be able to apply tools and strategies to increase the visibility of these titles in the library catalog.
2) Participants will be able to articulate the value of reducing barriers to the authorized use of electronic titles and the related need for consistent access to title coverage data in legal databases.
Law libraries invest in an ever-growing number of electronic databases such as BNA, CCH, LexisNexis, LLMC-Digital, RIA and Westlaw. Do users have equal access to the content in these databases if libraries do not catalog the titles within them? Find out how some law libraries are integrating titles from bundled electronic databases into their catalogs. Panelists will discuss different options, such as purchasing MARC records and title coverage lists, modifying OCLC and vendor-supplied records, and employing federated searching and open URL resolvers. Other highlights will include costs, staffing needs, upkeep and sustainability. Panelists will also envision the next steps law librarians can take as a group to reduce the barriers their users face.

F-5 Evolving Legal Education: Adding Law Practice Technology to the Curriculum
Level: Intermediate OCC-Portland Ballroom 254 60 Minutes
Competency: Teaching
Target Audience: Librarians and technologists who teach or wish to teach courses on law practice technology at law schools
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to advocate for the inclusion of technology instruction in a law school curriculum and explain why it is important for lawyers today to understand how technology is changing the practice of law.
2) Participants will be able to plan and design a law practice technology course, including identifying course goals, identifying specific techniques for instruction and identifying ways to assess student performance.
Most law students graduate with little exposure to how technologies are changing the practice of law, or to how the ethical implications of these technologies impact the practitioner. This program presents an overview of courses at two law schools that provide students with an introduction to technology’s impact on current law practice, as well as hands-on experience using a variety of legal technologies. The program considers the impetus behind these courses, identifies course goals, looks at how technology is used in the classroom to meet these goals, and presents an overview of the format and content of the courses, including the incorporation of an ethical component. Speakers will discuss the selection and sequence of topics, and provide concrete examples of subjects covered, for example: metadata as an element of electronic evidence. Types of student assignments, problems encountered and other practical considerations will be identified. The audience will have an opportunity to share similar teaching experiences.

Traditionally, organizations, including the ABA and the AALS, have evaluated a law library's quality primarily by measuring its physical collection. As more information becomes available electronically, physical measurements, like volume count, should become just one of the many ways to judge libraries' contributions to parent organizations. This session will consider different ways that libraries can use patron feedback to assess the quality of a law library and to develop new services. Participants will evaluate innovative methods such as LibQUAL+ and suggest ways to design newer methods to gather feedback on a smaller scale, focused on specific users and services. The program will evaluate ways to harness Web 2.0 technologies to solicit patron feedback. Technologies discussed will include Facebook, Digg, SurveyMonkey.com and Web-based insta-poll widgets.

G-1 Beyond Volume Count: Exploring the Evolving Tools for Evaluating Library Quality

Level: Introductory OCC-Portland Ballroom 255 75 Minutes

Competency: Library Management

Target Audience: Library administrators and public services librarians in academic, law firm and government law libraries

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to create or use innovative tools to ascertain the effectiveness of their library services.
2) Participants will be able to effectively ask patrons for feedback on library services.
G-3 The Future of Subject Access in the 21st Century
Level: Intermediate OCC-Portland Ballroom 252  75 Minutes
Competency: Collection Care and Management
Target Audience: Technical services librarians, catalogers, public services librarians, library administrators
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to identify and apply at least three changes to Library of Congress (LC) subject cataloging practices that LC has recently implemented.
2) Participants will be able to explain and critique two alternative subject vocabularies, and to describe how the user’s ability to locate materials on different subjects is affected.

In 2006, the Calhoun report, “The Changing Nature of the Catalog and Its Integration with Other Discovery Tools,” generated a firestorm of controversy with its comments about the growing number of students and scholars who routinely bypass library catalogs in favor of other discovery tools. Among other recommendations, the report urged that the Library of Congress (LC) dismantle its long-used Subject Headings (LCSH), the largest and most comprehensive controlled vocabulary in the world. While the LC subsequently stated its intention to retain these headings, the ongoing public criticism of the LC resulted in the establishment of the Working Group on the Future of Bibliographic Control, which is charged with preparing recommendations based on public hearings and testimony. After reviewing the Working Group’s report, the Library of Congress will announce new applications for the LCSH and classification in 2008. Dr. Barbara Tillett will describe the transformations that the LC has implemented and is contemplating. Dr. Lois Chan will explore theoretical and practical alternatives to the LCSH, and describe the effects those alternative systems have on the user’s ability to locate library resources.

G-4 The Fourth E: The Environment and Law Libraries
Level: Intermediate OCC-Portland Ballroom 253  75 Minutes
Competency: Library Management
Target Audience: Library directors, managers and other professionals who are interested in sustainable policies and practices
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to plan for building or renovating a green library.
2) Participants will be able to develop sustainable practices for their libraries and communities.

With the growing awareness of environmental issues and their importance, library directors and managers should be examining and implementing ways to reduce energy use, energy loss and waste production. Those who are planning for a building project or renovation should know about “green” buildings, but may not know what it is or what is involved. Those who are not building or renovating can still find ways to adopt greener practices. Frederick W. Stoss will address the role of libraries and librarians in helping to build sustainable communities, and the planning aspects of green building design and implementation. Peter Nycum will discuss his experience as chair of the Faculty Building Committee for a successful green building project at Lewis & Clark Law School and the ongoing process of keeping the library green.

G-5 Exploring Library 2.0: Stretching the Boundaries of Virtual Reference Services
Level: Introductory OCC-Portland Ballroom 255  75 Minutes
Competency: Reference, Research and Patron Services
Target Audience: Law librarians in all types of libraries who are interested in expanding their reference service activities with Library 2.0 theory and practice
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will explore new applications of Library 2.0 tools and strategies that extend the boundaries of virtual reference services.
2) Participants will be able to assess and select from a number of different applications of Library 2.0 tools and strategies that extend the boundaries of virtual reference services.

Second Life! Facebook and MySpace! Avatars! IM Chat! Are you using these Library 2.0 practices in your library? The intent of Library 2.0 theory and practice is to give library patrons ready and flexible access to information whenever and wherever they may be, thereby breaking down some of the traditional barriers to service imposed by time and space. Library 2.0 is a user-centered paradigm that focuses on knowledge, experience, collaboration, and in some instances, the creation of new content by communities of library users. A panel of academic law librarians will share their own libraries’ practical experiences with Library 2.0 theory and technology in the context of expanding the reach of reference services to the user’s virtual environment. Discussion will include how and why each library implemented a particular Library 2.0 tool into their existing reference activities, including the following: the use of virtual reference avatars and islands in Second Life; the use of social networking tools such as Facebook and MySpace; the use of Live Instant Chat; and the use of customized course pages incorporating virtual reference. The speakers will explain how Library 2.0 technology helped them to improve the delivery of reference services to populations of users who would not otherwise be served by their libraries.

G-6  The Nuts and Bolts of Competitive Intelligence—Information Gathering

Level: Introductory
OCC-Portland Ballroom 254
75 Minutes

Competency: Reference, Research and Patron Services
Target Audience: Library professionals who are interested in learning the skills surrounding competitive intelligence information gathering and source collection
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to begin gathering information to be used for competitive intelligence analysis using print and electronic resources, as well as basic interview techniques.
2) Participants will be able to represent data visually in their competitive intelligence work product.

Librarians are increasingly asking for the nuts and bolts of how to conduct competitive intelligence (CI) activities. This introductory-level session will cover the unique aspects of competitive intelligence information gathering, including processes and techniques, tools and resources, and visualizing data. Attendees will be given an overview of commonly used information resources and research techniques, including phone interview techniques and popular electronic resources. In addition, this session will provide new CI practitioners with an overview of the skills and tools necessary to provide the information the attorney wants—and needs—to see.

H-1  Cool Tools: Energizing Law Librarianship with Web 2.0

Level: Intermediate
OCC-Portland Ballroom 204
90 Minutes

Competency: Information Technology
Target Audience: All librarians who are comfortable with Internet technology, but who want to learn more about current uses and underlying technology behind Web 2.0 applications
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to assess and select appropriate technologies for teaching and marketing libraries.

With the increasing use of link resolvers and electronic resources management software, interoperability among standards has been under discussion among librarians, publishers and vendors. This forum will present updates on serial and electronic resource standards developments affecting library materials management. Topics will include Standardized Usage Statistics Harvesting Initiative (SUSHI), Project COUNTER (Counting Online Usage of Networked Electronic Resources), Project TRANSFER, the Digital Library Federation’s Electronic Resource Management Initiative (ERMI), and ONIX for serials transactions (Serials Release Notification, Serials Online Holdings, and Serials Products and Subscriptions).

Level: Introductory
OCC-Portland Ballroom 251
90 Minutes

Competency: Collection Care and Management
Target Audience: Collection development librarians, technical services librarians, electronic resource librarians, vendors and publishers
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to more effectively communicate information needs for new software and updates.
2) Participants will develop an awareness of new and developing serial standards that should be incorporated into collection development and other daily routines.

90 Minutes

Competency: Core Competencies for Law Librarianship
Target Audience: AALL members who want an update on information policy issues, including the legislative advocacy efforts of the AALL Washington Affairs Office; all librarians who are interested in information policy and legislative advocacy.
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to identify the AALL positions and policies on a variety of information policy issues.
2) Participants will learn about the activities of the AALL Washington Affairs Office and about legislative and information policy issues affecting the Association and its members.

The Annual Legislative and Regulatory Update presents the AALL membership with an "annual report" on the work of the Washington Affairs Office and Government Relations Committee (GRC), including progress made during the past year on information policy issues and legislative advocacy efforts. Panelists will include our Washington Affairs Office representative Mary Alice Baish. GRC chair Scott Matheson will moderate the program and present the 2008 AALL Public Access to Government Information award. A government representative involved with a hot-topic issue will round out the panel.

H-4. How to Produce a Legal Bibliography Play: An Actors’ Workshop for Law Librarians

Level: Introductory OCC-Portland Ballroom 253 90 Minutes

Competency: Teaching

Target Audience: Law librarians who want to develop an interactive play to identify and explain basic legal resources to nonlaw librarians, first-year law students or other adult learners who are unfamiliar with legal bibliography

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will learn the "tips and tricks" for producing interactive legal bibliography "plays" that will appeal to adult learners.
2) Participants will receive a "template" for adapting a play to the laws of a specific state.

In 1998, Joe C. Morris and Rhea Ballard-Thrower wrote a very popular "Colombo" parody, Throw the Book at Them, for the Georgia Commission of Media Organizations (COMO). In the play, the audience helps detective Columbia solve a law library murder. The Annual Legislative and Regulatory Update panel will also discuss the throwback "Boston Legal" to the laws of a specific state.

H-5. Patent Searching Demystified

Level: Intermediate OCC-Portland Ballroom 254 90 Minutes

Competency: Reference, Research and Patron Services

Target Audience: Beginner and mid-level law librarians and information professionals who are responsible for supporting patent research needs of a user community

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to develop and execute key patent search strategies necessary to support their Intellectual Property (IP) practice, thus increasing the awareness of additional patent-research-related products and services, and consultation with their legal and support staff.
2) Participants will be able to implement methods to identify their organizations' patent research needs and the necessary informational resources to provide research librarians and/or attorney end-users access to crucial patent information.

The changing law firm landscape has created new demands on law firm librarians as they absorb new practices due to firm mergers or growth. An almost urgent need arises for them as they must quickly service new areas of law by developing skills and resources to support these practices. Librarians new to supporting Intellectual Property (IP) practices quickly realize how dependent IP attorneys are on the law library to expertly conduct comprehensive patent research. This program will identify the most common types of patent searches, focusing on methods, strategies and tools that will serve to educate law firm librarians as they build IP research services. In addition, this program will help law firm librarians advise their IP attorneys who look to them to stay informed and "dispel any myths" when dealing with end-user databases and resources. The panel is comprised of expert patent searchers who will individually address some common patent searches, providing established methods and practical advice.

Level: Intermediate
OCC-F150/151  90 Minutes

Competency: Reference, Research and Patron Services

Target Audience: All librarians, particularly public services librarians in academic, public and private law libraries

Learning Outcomes:
1. Participants will be able to explain and discuss the impact statewide initiative and referendum processes have within our legal and political landscape.
2. Participants will be able to identify and critique resources appropriate to researching laws governing the initiative and referendum process and laws passed via these processes.

What do physician-assisted suicide, daylight savings time, same-sex marriage and eminent domain have in common? Laws on these subjects were passed via the initiative and referendum process. As the 2008 election season approaches, talk may not be solely focused on the presidential campaign. Questions about statewide initiatives and referendums ("I&R") may also affect both your professional and private lives. This program will explore these unique political tools from a variety of perspectives, ranging from a description of the origins of the movement—a.k.a. the "Oregon System"—in the late 19th century, to a discussion about electronic publication and preservation of I&R-related documents in the 21st century. Oregon is an ideal location for this discussion: It was home to the father of the I&R movement in the United States, William U'Ren, and the state holds several records for initiative use. The Honorable David Schuman of the Oregon Court of Appeals has written extensively on this subject, and he will provide both a scholarly and a practical perspective. John Lindback, the Elections Division Director for the Oregon Secretary of State, will discuss the trials and tribulations of administering the state's initiative and referendum process, and Beth Williams, reference librarian at Columbia Law School's Arthur W. Diamond Law Library and editorial board member of the recently published Exploring Initiative and Referendum Law: Selected State Research Guides, will discuss the unique research issues initiatives and referendums present to law librarians.

I-1 The Lifecycle of a Committee: The Citation Formats Committee as a Catalyst for Change

Level: Introductory
OCC-Portland Ballroom 251  60 Minutes

Competency: Core Competencies for Law Librarianship

Target Audience: Librarians who assist students, clerks, lawyers and judges in legal research and citation

Learning Outcomes:
1. Participants will learn the evolution of the Citations Formats Committee and the trends in citation style used in legal documents.
2. Participants will be able to state reasons for creating the Universal Citation Guide and identify areas with a continued need for citation format guidance.

For the last 13 years, the AALL Citation Formats Committee has participated in the debate over reform of legal citation, both by advocating for change and helping to guide the course of reform through the publication of the Universal Citation Guide. As the Committee completes its solo work and we join forces with the Access to Electronic Legal Information Committee, a review of its accomplishments and challenges is in order. A panel of original and more recent Committee members will discuss the original debate over citation reform, how that debate has played out, including the state of citation reform today, and what still remains to be done. Among others, several topics will include: the adoption of universal citation among state and federal courts; the level of resistance/acceptance of universal citation among legal publishers and the courts; the Committee’s relations with the ABA, editors of the Bluebook and others who are addressing the issue; and what still remains to be done in the field of citation reform.

I-2 Energize! Teleporting to Second Life: Exploring the Legal and Library Communities in a Virtual World

Level: Introductory
OCC-Portland Ballroom 255  60 Minutes

Competency: Reference, Research and Patron Services

Target Audience: All librarians who are considering Web 2.0 tools to enhance their library’s presence and reach patrons in a new interactive way, all librarians who want to be aware of cutting-edge technology approaches to library services
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will learn what Second Life is and how it is being used by the legal and library communities to teach, train and inform patrons and students.
2) Participants will know the pros and cons of setting up a virtual world presence, as well as the costs, time commitment and hardware requirements needed to sustain these ventures.

Ready...Set...Energize! Watch as law librarians teleport and materialize in the virtual worlds of Second Life. The program will give an overview of Second Life, how libraries can use it, and what the current state of legal, library and academic projects are in Second Life. Participants will also learn how to get a Second Life project going in real life. The speakers are librarians who have created law libraries in Second Life or have universities that are committed to working in Second Life.

I-3 The Nuts and Bolts of Competitive Intelligence—Deliverables
Level: Introductory OCC-Portland Ballroom 252 60 Minutes
Competency: Reference, Research and Patron Services
Target Audience: Library professionals who are interested in learning how to create effective competitive intelligence work products and deliverables
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will become familiar with analysis models used to synthesize and analyze information into actionable intelligence.
2) Participants will acquire best practices with which to present their competitive intelligence analysis to attorneys and law firm administration.

Librarians are increasingly asking for the nuts and bolts of how to produce competitive intelligence (CI) work product. This introductory level session will cover the unique aspects of competitive intelligence information preparation. Attendees will be given an overview of commonly used analytical techniques, as well some examples of successful briefing materials. In addition, this session will provide new CI practitioners with examples of best practices for analyzing, compiling and presenting information.

I-4 Copyright Issues in the 110th Congress
Level: Intermediate OCC-Portland Ballroom 253 60 Minutes
Competency: Core Competencies for Law Librarianship
Target Audience: All law librarians, as they are expected to be knowledgeable about copyright in their library setting
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will learn how (and why) copyright has changed in the current Congress.
2) Participants will find out how current library practice has been affected by changes in copyright during the current Congress, and what the future may hold.

A panel of speakers will describe the varied copyright issues that were in the forefront during the 110th Congress, including revisions to Section 108 of the Copyright Act, a solution to the problem of Orphan Works, as well as international and other developments.

I-5 Battling Employee Burnout? Explore Tools and Techniques to Assess and Address Employee Burnout
Level: Advanced OCC-Portland Ballroom 254 60 Minutes
Competency: Library Management
Target Audience: Library directors and managers
Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to identify five staff burnout symptoms after completing a model assessment tool during the session.
2) Participants will be able to critique and employ five techniques to address employee burnout.

To be successful, law librarians must be ready to address challenges on a daily basis. Over time, the demands placed on law librarians to meet the expectations of their users puts many at risk for career burnout; they are no longer able to derive satisfaction from their job. Unchecked, job burnout leads to absenteeism, loss of productivity and employee turnover. Managers who recognize burnout warning signs and work to assist employees with developing coping strategies will limit the personal and institutional impact of this debilitating condition. The program will highlight a variety of methods library managers and directors may use to identify burnout symptoms, including the use of an inventory tool. Speakers also will focus on designing strategies to prevent employee burnout.

I-6 Exploring Online Instructional Tools: A Showcase

Level: Intermediate

Target Audience: All law librarians who provide instruction to audiences with varying schedules

Learning Outcomes:

1) Participants will be able to identify free and familiar tools that have been used in nontraditional ways to deliver legal research instruction online.

2) Participants will view and assess existing online legal research course components and instructional modules developed using free and familiar technology.

In addition to traditional instructional methods, 21st century learners demand “just-in-time” learning opportunities as a part of their legal education. Why should you hesitate to meet that demand when there are tools that are old and familiar or new and free or inexpensive that can be used to deliver instruction online? In this series of demonstrations, participants will learn how CALI Author, LibGuides, traditional audio, Microsoft products, and even still photographs, have been used to develop enhancements to legal instruction. Participants will get to view the finished products and discuss the pros and cons of using each tool with the presenters.

J-1 Life on a Stick: Traveling Light with Portable Applications

Level: Introductory

Target Audience: Librarians who work with multiple computers or who travel

Learning Outcomes:

1) Participants will be able to identify and select portable applications that can travel with them and work with any PC or laptop.

2) Participants will be able to increase their productivity by using portable applications.

An alligator on a stick, fried Twinkies on a stick, and now, presenting ... life on a stick! Much of the food on a stick developed out of a need for convenience—eating while walking, for example—and the same idea now applies to computer software. Many librarians travel or who travel with multiple computers in their work. Not all of these computers are configured to give them access to their familiar programs, bookmarks or documents. Carrying a laptop everywhere is clunky and not all librarians have a PDA or smartphone. Even for those that do, synchronizing various devices can be inconvenient, and sometimes, there is just no substitute for a computer. Portable applications on a USB stick or MP3 player allow you to use programs and settings without installing them on the computer at hand or leaving data footprints behind. This program will identify useful portable programs (such as e-mail clients, browsers, office software), inform librarians on ways to make nonportable programs portable and discuss methods of keeping information on portable devices safe.

J-2 Explore the Effective Use of Cataloger’s Desktop

Level: Intermediate

Target Audience: All librarians who provide instruction to the general public

Learning Outcomes:

1) Participants will be able to identify the components of Cataloger’s Desktop.

2) Participants will be able to implement the most effective workflows to maximize usage of Cataloger’s Desktop.

Cataloger’s Desktop is a Web-based cataloging knowledge system developed by the Library of Congress. It has revolutionized how many catalogers find answers to their cataloging questions by providing continuously updated Web-based access to the most heavily relied upon cataloging publications and documentation, including: Anglo-American Cataloguing Rules (AACR2), Library of Congress Rule Interpretations (LCRIs), Subject Cataloging Manuals, MARC 21 Formats, and the latest editions of all MARC code lists. Bruce Johnson, the Cataloger’s Desktop development team leader and a librarian at the Library of Congress, will provide tips for effectively using this product, as well as provide a preview of how Cataloger’s Desktop will evolve in the future.

Level: Introductory

Target Audience: Law librarians developing outreach programs for the general public

Learning Outcomes:

1) Participants will be able to evaluate WorldCat.org’s social software for the promotion of library services.

2) Participants will be able to discuss and use WorldCat.org’s social software tools for patron services.

How can law libraries reach out to people who want legal information, but are unaware of law libraries? How can we promote law libraries as reliable sources for legal information? The content we develop in pathfinders and legal research guides are often part of the “deep Web” and may not be easily found. We need to take advantage of social software technology supported on OCLC’s WorldCat.org. Even with limited budgets and time, law librarians can utilize WorldCat.org to post legal lists (also known as bibliographies or pathfinders) and reviews of legal books, and create canned searches that will help users find useful materials. The speaker will outline WorldCat.org’s potential for law libraries, demonstrate ways it has been applied and share experiences working with OCLC staff.

J-4 The AALL Salary Survey: What It Can—and Cannot—Do for You

Level: Introductory  OCC-Portland Ballroom 253  30 Minutes

Competency: Library Management

Target Audience: Librarians who want to apply the AALL Salary Survey to their workplace environment

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to identify ways to apply the Salary Survey results to their workplace environment.
2) Participants will be able to demonstrate an understanding of the value of the Salary Survey by instituting discussions with relevant personnel at their institutions.

You printed the 2007 AALL Biennial Salary Survey & Organizational Characteristics. You checked out the relevant information and either grinned or grimaced, depending on the numbers. And now it’s sitting in a pile on your desk. What can you do with the data? How can you use the information in your library and with your dean/HR department/CEO/CIO/CFO?

Peter Ronza, Compensation and Benefits Manager at St. Thomas University, will lead us in discovering how the Survey results can be utilized WorldCat.org to post legal lists (also known as bibliographies or pathfinders) and reviews of legal books, and create canned searches that will help users find useful materials. The speaker will outline WorldCat.org’s potential for law libraries, demonstrate ways it has been applied and share experiences working with OCLC staff.

J-5 Computer-assisted Legal Research Is No Threat to Librarians: The History of American Legal Education Shows Us Why

Level: Introductory  OCC-Portland Ballroom 254  30 Minutes

Competency: Reference, Research and Patron Services

Target Audience: Law school librarians who are involved in teaching legal research classes to students, law firm librarians involved with legal research instruction of new associates

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to identify seven secret strategies for working with information vendors, as explained by industry insiders.
2) Participants will be able to better utilize their relationships with librarian liaisons to benefit their organizations.

Have you ever wondered what librarian liaisons do, and what exactly they do for you? Here is your opportunity to learn from law librarians with experience working on both sides of “The Great Divide.” All of the speakers are librarians who left the profession to work for information vendors and then returned to library positions in law firms and law schools.

K-1 CRIV Tools: Useful Resources for Working with Information Vendors

Level: Introductory  OCC-F150/151  30 Minutes

Competency: Core Competencies for Law Librarianship

Target Audience: All librarians who routinely deal with legal information vendors—particularly serials and acquisition librarians and those with budgetary responsibilities

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to identify and utilize the various Web-based tools and resources provided by CRIV for working with information vendors.
2) Participants will be able to design and create their own tools for working with information vendors based on example forms, spreadsheets and logs provided by CRIV.

For many years, the Committee on Relations with Information Vendors (CRIV) has provided a Web-based set of tools and resources to assist librarians in working with legal publishers and their various departments. This program will showcase the numerous tools CRIV provides, demonstrate how to access them and explain the benefits of using them. Specific CRIV tools that will be featured include vendor contact information grids, corporate affiliations of legal publishers, divine titles list, sample letters for unsolicited material, sample claim letters, sample budget spreadsheets and vendor issue resolution logs. Many beginning law librarians spend years discovering the need for—and then developing and designing—these tools. Why recreate the wheel when CRIV has already done the work? This program will enable librarians to become more effective and efficient in their dealings with information vendors.

K-2 Explore the Effective Use of Classification Web

Level: Intermediate  OCC-Portland Ballroom 255  30 Minutes

Competency: Information Technology

Target Audience: Technical services librarians who want to learn how to more effectively use Classification Web, as well as technical services librarians who are considering subscribing to Classification Web.

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to list the two components of Classification Web, as well as identify specialized search, display and correlation features of the product.
2) Participants will be able to implement the most effective workflows to maximize usage of Classification Web.

Classification Web is a continuously updated Web-based product developed by the Library of Congress that allows users to access, search and browse all Library of Congress Classification (LCC) Schedules and Library of Congress Subject Headings (LCSH). This product speeds the process of verifying and assigning classification numbers to library materials by providing up-to-date access to LCC and LCSH through any Web connection. Among other features, Classification Web also provides automatic calculation of classification table numbers, saving catalogers time. Cheryl Cook, the Classification Web product manager and a library services specialist at the Library of Congress, will provide tips for the most effective use of Classification Web, as well as highlight significant new features due for release in 2008.

K-3 Law Journals and ILL: A Model to Explore and Adapt

Level: Introductory  OCC-Portland Ballroom 252  30 Minutes

Competency: Reference, Research and Patron Services

Target Audience: Academic law librarians who have to deal with journal editors and ILL requests

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to identify problems areas when dealing with journal editors and ILL requests.
2) Participants will be able to adapt ideas from the session to create an ILL policy for journal editors that will enhance service.

Most academic law librarians have to handle ILL requests from a number of student law reviews and journals. Unlike ILL requests placed by nonjournal students, these ILL requests often create numerous problems for both the library and the journal editors. Some of the nightmares encountered include duplicate and even triplicate requests placed for the same item, a lack of control by the editors of what has been requested, tracking returnable items delivered to journal associate editors, and overdue notices. The University of Pennsylvania has adopted an ILL procedure for journals that virtually eliminates these issues. By working with the journals to consolidate the ILL and cite-checking process, ILL has turned from a cumbersome, problem-ridden procedure to one that meets everyone's needs, while succeeding in getting the materials in an efficient and relatively problem-free environment. The university's procedures will be presented as a model that attendees can analyze, tweak and adapt to meet their users' needs.

Competency: Information Technology
Target Audience: All librarians (firm, county or academic) who are responsible for producing a newsletter and marketing the library

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will learn how to successfully acquire content for a newsletter and use library activities to market the library and alert library patrons of services, collections and current awareness sources.
2) Participants will learn how to use new technologies to enhance the newsletter such as RSS feeds, current awareness resources, use del.icio.us to share information, electronic publishing and create format for PDAs.

As the interests of faculty members become more interdisciplinary, more of them are writing about legal history. Legal history, though, is no longer just a matter of looking at old cases. Researchers need to access newspapers and archival materials to develop their theses more fully. How can law librarians keep up with the new resources coming on line in this fascinating field? This program will help you started and keep you on top of a new, expanding field of scholarly research. First, the session will focus on both traditional legal history resources, such as subscription databases, and on nontraditional sources, such as Google Book Search, to show you how to find what your researchers want. Next, speakers will examine what kinds of materials your researchers want and why. Finally, you will learn how to put it all together and keep it up to date by using elements of Web 2.0 and posting a dynamic legal history wiki.

Level: Introductory
OCC-Portland Ballroom 251
30 Minutes

Competency: Reference, Research and Patron Services
Target Audience: All librarians who provide instruction, reference services and/or access to government information

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will compare the Government Information in the 21st Century grant-funded training program to other methods of learning research skills.
2) Participants will be able to identify WebJunction.org as a source for educational programs and tools relating to government information and librarianship.

Do you feel like running away when you are asked for census information? Do you need to research an immigration problem and have no idea where to start? Information from the U.S. government is a valuable addition to any law library collection. An Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) grant-funded project is underway in five Western states to provide user guides and training in high-demand topics for librarians and library staff. Come and learn about the progress of this grant project from two participants—a state coordinator and trainer/librarian. Learn how this project was conceived, how the geographic coverage affected its topic coverage, and how it has been carried out during the last two years. Find out how your library can participate. Discover methods that will carry into training and instruction for other areas of librarianship.

K-7 Energize Portfolio Evolve

Level: Introductory
Level: Intermediate
OCC-Portland Ballroom 252
30 Minutes

Competency: Information Technology
Target Audience: All librarians who are responsible for producing a newsletter and marketing the library

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to list the steps involved in using a dynamic, changeable wiki to display their library’s research assets, so they are instantly updated about this rapidly changing field.
2) Participants will be able to identify WebJunction.org as a source for educational programs and tools relating to government information and librarianship.

As the interests of faculty members become more interdisciplinary, more of them are writing about legal history. Legal history, though, is no longer just a matter of looking at old cases. Researchers need to access newspapers and archival materials to develop their theses more fully. How can law librarians keep up with the new resources coming on line in this fascinating field? This program will help you started and keep you on top of a new, expanding field of scholarly research. First, the session will focus on both traditional legal history resources, such as subscription databases, and on nontraditional sources, such as Google Book Search, to show you how to find what your researchers want. Next, speakers will examine what kinds of materials your researchers want and why. Finally, you will learn how to put it all together and keep it up to date by using elements of Web 2.0 and posting a dynamic legal history wiki.

W-1: Swim, Don’t Sink: Immerse Yourself in Law Cataloging
Friday, July 11 • 9:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. (8:30 a.m. check-in)
Saturday, July 12 • 9:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.

Level: Introductory
Comptency: Core Competencies for Law Librarianship
Target Audience: Catalogers new to the field of law and those interested in a review of current law cataloging practices

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to identify materials specific to law and apply the special rules in AACR2 to them; handle continuing resources in both paper and electronic forms, including integrating resources; and choose appropriate access points, including uniform titles.
2) Participants will be able to apply the Library of Congress Classification, Class K schedules and legal subject headings when cataloging materials for their library.

This workshop is aimed at catalogers new to the field of law and those interested in a review of current law cataloging practices. Basic topics in law cataloging are introduced, including the various types of legal materials, the bibliographic description of legal materials and choice of access points and uniform titles, Library of Congress Subject Headings and Library of Congress Classification, Class K. Continuing resources, including integrating resources, in both paper and electronic form, are covered.

W-2: What’s in This Box? Managing Archival Collections
Saturday, July 12 • 8:30 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. (8:00 a.m. check-in)

Level: Introductory  OCC-C125/126  Full day

Comptency: Collection Care and Management
Target Audience: Librarians who work with archival materials and desire training in Encoded Archival Description

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to explain the principles of organizing archival collections and creating finding aids.
2) Participants will create an archival finding aid tagged with Encoded Archival Description (EAD) tags.

This one-day workshop has two discrete parts. The morning session will focus on managing archival collections, including discussion of what archival collections are and who should manage them, effectively arranging and describing collections, creating finding aids; providing physical and intellectual access to these types of materials, and managing collections electronically. The afternoon session will cover Encoded Archival Description (EAD)—the accepted standard for encoding the descriptive information found in archival finding aids that enables researchers to locate and use finding aids electronically. Participants will receive basic instruction and hands-on experience in marking up finding aids with EAD tags.

W-3: Conducting Empirical Legal Research
Saturday, July 12 • 8:30 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. (8:00 a.m. check-in)

Level: Intermediate  Full day

Comptency: Reference, Research and Patron Services
Target Audience: Librarians interested in learning about empirical research

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will be able to describe what empirical research is and the resources and methods faculty/lawyers/students use to do it.
2) Participants will learn how to use statistical software to run basic, descriptive statistics (e.g., means, standard deviations) and where to locate analyzable databases that meet the needs of their faculty/lawyers/students.

Empirical legal research uses data analysis grounded in social science to study the law and its impact on society. In recent years, empirical legal studies have rapidly emerged as an essential component of legal research and scholarship. Law librarians can be instrumental in helping empirical legal researchers with this

W-4: "So Now You’re Conflicts"/"So Now You’re Docket": The Evolving Law Firm Library Manager
Saturday, July 12 • 12:30 p.m. – 5:30 p.m.
(12:00 p.m. check-in)
Level: Advanced OCC-A107 Half day (afternoon)

Competency: Library Management
Target Audience: Private law librarians who have recently been tapped to manage the related information areas of conflicts and docket/calendar for their firms, private law librarians who anticipate evolving into administrative managers with greater departmental responsibilities

Learning Outcomes:
1) Participants will discuss and analyze the requirements and challenges of library-department management versus docket/calendar and conflicts department management in a private law firm setting
2) Participants will be qualified to develop a plan for managing docket/calendar and conflicts departments from initial set-up to operational efficiency

Whereas the literature on legal records management has expanded greatly over the past few years, very little has been written on the subject of how docket/calendar and conflicts of interest departments operate in law firms. To a great degree, staff working in these departments—including managers—tend to be internally appointed, or "home grown," and trained on the job with few, if any, opportunities for formal training or instruction. Firm librarians are increasingly being tapped to set up and manage these related information areas; however, many must embark on this adventure clueless as to what’s actually involved. This workshop will provide a unique opportunity to learn from two experts in their respective fields about what it really means to evolve into the role of docket/calendar and conflicts of interest manager.

W-5: Amazing Technical Services: The Director’s Cut
Saturday, July 12 • 12:30 p.m. – 5:00 p.m.
(11:45 a.m. check-in/lunch)
Level: Intermediate OCC-C120/122 Half day (afternoon)

Competency: Library Management
Target Audience: Law library directors and administrators

Learning Outcomes:
1) Library directors and administrators will be able to analyze new and forthcoming technologies to enhance and improve information retrieval and research tools.
2) Library directors and administrators will assess new collection development tools, administrative reports and related services.

Law library directors constantly face the challenges of providing excellent services with limited resources, underscored by an unprecedented spectrum of electronic resources and tools. Technical services librarians are poised to take on new challenges in addition to new technologies. Gone are the days of the clunky online catalog, voluminous piles of acquisitions orders and laborious hand-collection of statistics. This workshop will update library administrators on 21st century technical services tools and solutions for a wide array of management issues, including assessment, acquisitions and information access functions.

Information will be provided and delivered in a variety of modes in a fast-moving, interactive format. The workshop also will encourage library administrators to reflect and focus on these new and enhanced solutions and their impact on individual libraries’ missions and needs.

Enjoy an opportunity to share experiences with your peers and leave with new ideas to enhance your chapter’s development.

Diversity Symposium
Developing Diversity: Exploring Innovative Approaches to Recruitment into the Profession of Law Librarianship
Oregon Convention Center – Room B117
Saturday, July 12  ·  2:00 p.m. – 5:00 p.m.
-sponsored by LexisNexis
Reception and presentation of the AALL Minority Leadership Development Award immediately following (5:00 p.m. – 6:00 p.m.) in Room A104
Ron Wheeler, Chair, Committee on Diversity
Diversity has been on the minds of AALL leadership at least since the creation of the Diversity Committee. Yet, the Association, as well as many of its member libraries, still struggles with how best to achieve true diversity. Join us for a provocative discussion of diversity—how it is defined and how it can be achieved. Engage in a dialogue with our panel of experts, where we will assess our progress thus far, hear about innovative programs that aim to recruit members of diverse groups into law librarianship, and plot our course for the future.
Attendees will walk away from this exciting symposium with concrete examples of diversity initiatives to implement in their own libraries. Our panelists will include:

Dr. Maurice Wheeler, Associate Professor, University of North Texas School of Library and Information Sciences
Diversity is one of Dr. Wheeler’s primary research areas on which he has written and presented extensively. Dr. Wheeler will help us to define diversity, identify useful indicators of achieving increased diversity, and assess AALL’s diversity efforts.

Dr. Patricia Montiel Overall, Assistant Professor, University of Arizona, School of Information Resources and Library Science
Dr. Overall will discuss the Knowledge River program at the University of Arizona, which focuses on the needs and perspectives of the Hispanic and Native American communities.

Jerome Offord, Director of Diversity Initiatives, Association of Research Libraries (ARL)
Mr. Offord will talk about ARL’s Initiative to Recruit a Diverse Workforce and its other initiatives involving the recruitment and retention of librarians from underrepresented groups, as well as what AALL can do to achieve greater diversity.

Dwight King, Head of Research Services, Kresge Law Library, University of Notre Dame
Mr. King will discuss his law library’s participation in a project to recruit the next generation of librarians.

Legislative Advocacy Leadership Training
Oregon Convention Center – Exhibit Hall (CDI)
Tuesday, July 15  ·  1:30 p.m. – 2:30 p.m.
Candidates for the AALL Executive Board were announced in late spring. This is your chance to get close and personal with them! Meet and mingle with the candidates for Vice-President/President-Elect and Board Members and become better informed about the candidates before the year-end election. Then you can say, “I don’t know anyone who is running!” So, come, ask your questions and get to know the candidates before you cast your vote during the online election in December 2008.

NALLM/Mentoring Program
(New Academic Law Libraries Meeting)
Hilton Portland & Executive Tower – Parlor (C)
Sunday, July 13  ·  5:30 p.m. – 6:30 p.m.
The Academic Law Libraries Special Interest Section (ALL-SIS) is pleased to present the New Academic Law Libraries program (NALLM) to help introduce newer academic law librarians to the world of academic law librarianship. The event is scheduled right before the ALL-SIS Reception and Awards Ceremony, allowing newer members a chance to become acquainted before attending the large gathering.
Always an effective “ice-breaker,” NALLM will continue the tradition of CONALL by providing the newest members of ALL-SIS and their mentors a chance to begin the exciting process of forming new professional relationships. Registration is not required for this event, but attendance is limited to newer academic law librarians and their mentors.
(For more information, please see AALL’s website.)

Basch provides subscription management service, with a deliberate emphasis on service. We direct these resources to understanding, anticipating and meeting the needs of our customers. BOSS, the Basch Online Subscription Service, is a 24/7 portal to information on the subscription orders entrusted to Basch. Payments to publishers (plus the dates on which payments clear), recipient names and addresses and order, claim and renewal history are readily accessible. BOSS includes a robust suite of serial management tools, many developed in response to the specific needs of our customers in the corporate and health science environments. BOSS supports traditional single-facility ordering, claiming and renewals, accommodates the management of subscription for individuals and departments, and handles multilevel approval and authorizations required for some purchasing situations. There is no charge for using BOSS. We’re proud of our systems and the service we provide.

In a world where the volume of information is growing exponentially and access to information has become simple and ubiquitous, the need for relevance has never been greater. The challenge is that relevance cannot be determined by a single word or phrase; it requires knowledge of all the names, products, segments, technologies, events, or any other term of unique importance to your business or department. We provide relevance recognition software and online information services that define and apply the vocabulary of your business to find, analyze and automatically deliver the information that is uniquely relevant, collectively insightful and immediately valuable. Llesiant gives you, your teams or your entire organization an unfair information advantage by providing the information you want to know, the knowledge you need to know and the benefit of being first to know—faster and with greater precision than any other resource. Be informed, not inundated.

Worksite Enforcement
The ICE Man Just Keeps Coming …

The raids on meatpacking plants, restaurants, and other U.S. businesses by Immigration & Customs Enforcement (ICE) officials affect lawyers in a cross section of specialty areas—business, corporate, labor, immigration, and more.

Written and edited by immigration law experts, AILA's Guide to Worksite Enforcement and Corporate Compliance is a must-have reference for any attorney whose clients are affected by these raids.

Not only does it provide guidance on representing those employers already targeted by ICE, it provides "how to" information on advising clients on developing a corporate compliance program and avoiding an ICE raid.

AILA Publications also has available a number of resources on a variety of topics necessary for any attorney representing a foreign-born client. Make sure they're available for your library users—

- Kurzban's Immigration Law Sourcebook (new 11th edition now available!)
- AILA's Asylum Primer
- Immigration Consequences of Criminal Activity
- Litigating Immigration Cases in Federal Court
- Essentials of Immigration Law
- AILALink Online
- and more!

The American Immigration Lawyers Association is a national bar association of more than 11,000 attorneys and law professors who teach immigration law. AILA Publications is the leading publisher dedicated to providing immigration law resources.

“BNA helps our attorneys be better advisors.”

“...we take pride in knowing our clients' business, their industry, and in staying abreast of the changes and developments that could impact either. BNA services are highly regarded by our attorneys for their analysis, information, and timeliness. By using BNA’s electronic services, our attorneys keep up with legal and industry changes on a daily basis, enabling them to keep clients apprised of new developments that may affect their business. Prior to our switch to electronic services, whoever was last on the routing list may not have seen the most up-to-date information. Now everybody gets to read what’s new the day it arrives.”
