FOREWORD

Since Robert Allerton gave his estate in Monticello to the University in 1946, the number and diversity of documents and related materials on this unique resource has grown steadily. By far the most ambitious and comprehensive attempt to identify and catalog major items is represented in this document which is the product of over a year's effort by Susan Enscoe. Her work was carefully guided by Professors Maynard Brichford and William Maher, the University's archivist and assistant archivist.

As interim co-directors, we commissioned this project to learn more about how much "Allertonia" exists and where it can be found. The size of this report confirms our suspicions that a wealth of useful material is available.

A great deal of effort was involved in assembling this impressive reference document. It identifies the variety of documents that exist and their location, as well as serving as the basis for further expansion and update of the records of Robert Allerton Park and Conference Center.

Researchers interested in examining the history associated with this gift will find this a valuable reference source. We appreciate all of Susan's work and the enthusiasm with which she approached the task. We thank Professors Brichford and Maher who added their experience to producing a well-organized and comprehensive document.

INTRODUCTION

The purpose of this guide is to provide a detailed listing of material held by the University of Illinois that is related to the Allerton family and Robert Allerton Park and Conference Center. This project has several goals including: expanding and updating the "Allerton Archives" booklet created by Laura Marshall-Lewis in 1984, providing easy access to this listing by creating a guide on a word processing file with searching capabilities, and creating a document that will provide future researchers with a comprehensive report on specific materials available.

Over the course of a year, January - December, 1990, several repositories of material relevant to the topic were searched. Since the largest amount of material is located in the University Archives, it served as the starting point for this guide. The first step was to examine all the Archives material listed in the "Allerton Archives" booklet to check for accuracy and completeness of listings and need for possible expansion. Next, the Archives holding of records of major offices or departments within the University that have been involved with the administration or use of the Robert Allerton Park and Conference Center, the Allerton Endowment Farms, and the 4-H Memorial Camp were examined. The selection of these groups of records was based on a review of Archives finding aids which provided broad overviews of the material contained in each box of a record series. The finding aids were checked for listings on "Allerton", "Robert Allerton", "Allerton Park", "4-H", and "Gift". Once a reference was found, the appropriate box and folder of records was searched, and a detailed description of the relevant documents was created. Approximately fifty record series were searched, and material from thirty-three of them is included in this document.

The second repository searched was the Robert Allerton Park and Conference Center. Material held at Allerton House was located with the assistance of Jennifer Eickman, then Assistant Director of Allerton House and Conference Center. The archival material was documented, and artifacts held in the Allerton House were listed. The extensive material held at the Visitor Center for the Robert Allerton Park and Conference Center was located with the assistance of David Bowman, Park Superintendent. Again, the archival material was documented, and artifacts were listed.

A visit was made to the 4-H Memorial Camp office which is also located on property given by Robert Allerton. The archival material in this office was located with the assistance of David Shiley, Director, and the documents were subsequently recorded.

The final phase of the search involved documenting material held by other offices and repositories on campus that have been involved in the administration and use of the Robert Allerton Park and Conference Center, the Allerton Endowment Farms, and the 4-H Memorial Camp. This material is supplemental to that found in the University Archives, usually of a more recent date, or is found in a special collection such as the Map and Geography Library.

The listings created through these searches were entered into a Word Perfect file. A subject index was created to allow easy access to the location and contents of specific records. Preliminary bibliographies were created to provide information on research activities conducted at the Robert Allerton Park and Conference Center, and on Allerton family history.

For a quick overview of the University's administration of the Allerton properties, researchers should consult the Index of the Proceedings of the Board of Trustees. The Board dealt with all aspects of these properties. A quick overview of the Allerton family can be found by examining the section of this report dealing with the material in David Bowman's office, Visitor Center at Robert Allerton Park and Conference Center. An overview of conferences held at Allerton House can be found in the Office of Continuing Education and Public Service where yearly reports listing conferences are kept. Researchers wishing to use this guide to locate Allerton related material should begin with the subject index which will provide page locations for various topics. The pages will provide information on the location of material and an indication of what type of material can be found.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This project would not have been possible without the assistance of several individuals. Maynard Brichford and William Maher provided guidance on matters relating to archival procedure, record location, and the form and contents of this document. Kathleen Pecknold and Charles Kozoll were instrumental in the supervision of this project and graciously provided what was at times much needed encouragement. Jennifer Eickman, David Shiley, and, particularly, David Bowman, willingly provided information and access to their collections for what sometimes became very extended forays.

The contents of this guide reflect the best effort to create a comprehensive listing. In all probability, however, some material has been overlooked. Notice of any omissions or errors should be submitted to the University Archives for inclusion in a possible future update of the guide.

Material located in the Archives has been transferred from offices, organizations, and individuals connected with the University. This material is arranged by Series (administrative file). Within specific boxes, supplementary finding aids may list file folders by title and contents. Most of the information in the Archives deals with the administration of the Allerton properties. For additional information concerning the uses of the Allerton properties as a Conference Center, check Series 13/3/22, 18/1/815, and 41/69/322.

 Rural Route 2
 Monticello, Illinois 61856
 Gary Eickman, Director (217-333-3287)

Material related to the Allerton Family and to the operation of the Allerton House Conference Center is located at this facility. Much of this material is visual in nature, including drawings, photographs, motion pictures and home movies. There are a large number of operational records.

Drawings

Four map drawers in the Loft closet containing hundreds of drawings (both original and copies) relating to the Allerton Estate:

drawings dating from 1899 to 1946, including work by John W. Gregg and John J. Borie. A catalogue of these drawings, titled "The Allerton Architectural Archives, Part I: 1899-1946" by Scott Alan Mehaffey (1988) is available. The catalogue can be found in the Office of the Park Superintendent, Robert Allerton Park Visitor Center, file drawer "Allertonia: pre-1946", folder "Drawing Archives".

Photos

There are over sixty-five photographs (reproductions) hanging on the walls throughout Allerton House, all were taken during the time Robert Allerton lived in the House, from 1900 to the 1940's. A list of photographs (by room) is available in the Appendix.

Conference records

There are file folders for each conference held re: contracts, room assignments, meal counts, registration information, itineraries, menus, accounting sheets, names of participants, correspondence with groups. Records for 1974 - 1990 are kept in chronological order in file drawers in the office area. These file folders are titled by conference and date. Earlier records (1960 - 1973) are stored in boxes located in the attic and basement of Allerton House.

Books

Over 2,000 books were left behind by Robert Allerton and John Gregg Allerton when the estate was given to the University of Illinois. Most have been gathered along two walls on the upper floor of the Library. A catalog of these books has been completed, and can be found in the University Archives, Series 31/13/20.

Forestry Department research conducted at Robert Allerton Park is filed in the office under the specific research project. According to Dr. Gary Rolfe:

The Department of Forestry has conducted extensive research in the woodland areas of Robert Allerton Park. Studies have involved both the bottomland and upland forest areas and include stand development, nutrient cycling, regeneration, soil-site relationships, phenology, succession, productivity and a variety of other management and ecological research topics. The Department also completes a 10-year inventory on the natural area and maintains a data-base of the last three inventories. Current research involves decomposition of woody debris in the forested bottomlands, deposition and soil-site relationships.

World Heritage Museum

World Heritage Museum
484 Lincoln Hall
702 South Wright
Urbana, Illinois 61801
Barbara Bohlen, Director (217-3332360)

The Museum holds one artifact:

Secretary (possibly Chinoiserie) from the late 18th or early 19th century. The secretary was a gift from the Allerton Estate by either Robert Allerton or John Gregg Allerton. It was most likely received by the Museum in the 1930's or 1940's.

Photographic Services Office

Photographic Services
713 South Wright
Champaign, Illinois 61820
J. L. Tarr, Manager (217-333-4677)

The Photographic Services Office is the central repository for photographic work by University of Illinois photographers. The photographs are used for public relations, research, and instructional purposes. They are also available for purchase.

This office has negatives and black and white enlargements of a series of photographs of Allerton House and Robert Allerton Park. The enlargements are held in a file drawer titled "File Prints #1". There are five folders of material. Enlargements are not dated, but do have titles. A list of these enlargements can be found in the Appendix.

Board of Trustees' Office

Board of Trustees
354 Henry Administration
506 South Wright
Urbana, Illinois 61801
Romayne Wicklund, Associate Secretary (217-333-1920)

This office has one box of material:

photostatic copy of map re: Allerton properties (9/18/46)
correspondence re: transferral of deeds, abstracts, affidavits (includes typed list) gift of Robert Allerton to the University of Illinois (8/14/47)
copy of Indentures (1946)
original legal documents (approximately 165) re: deeds, abstracts, affidavits, correspondence relating to property owned by the Allerton family (Samuel W. Allerton, Robert Allerton, Kate Allerton) and given to the University of Illinois. A brief examination of these documents revealed dates ranging from 1865 to 1929.
